K	First Grade	Second Grade	Third Grade	Fourth Grade	Fifth Grade	Sixth Grade animal	adapt	force	absorb	bacteria	air pressure	abiotic factor attraction	data	fossils	atoms	carnivore	asteroids	ancient evaporate	energy	genes	beneficial	charged	atmosphere	biomes gas	environment	gravity	change	consumers	bladder	consequence insect	features	inherited	chemical change	current	blood	conversion liquid	inhabit	life cycle	chemical reaction	decomposer	carbon dioxide	earths crust magnets	interdependent	machine	detrimental	deposition	circulation	ecological material	matter	motion	elements	diagnostic	clouds	epicenter plant	measure	organism	endanger	disease	colon	erode season	meat eater	patterns	energy	dispersal	combination	eruption solid	nutrient	pitch	energy transfer	earthquake	comets	exchange sprout	plant eater	physical properties	extinct	ecosystem	condensation	faults structure	predict	population	fuel	electrical energy	conduction	fossilized texture	properties	position	function	electromagnet	conductivity	geologic weight	record	pull	habitat	erosion	convection	habitat seasons	push	illuminate	eruption	digestive system	hypothesis shelter	sound	lunar cycle	fault	earth	intrusion temperature	speed	machines	food web	evaporation	landslide thermometer	states of matter	matter	generator	fog	lithosphere weather	tools	particles	herbivore	forecasting	magma variation	periodic table	igneous	gaseous	mantle physical change	landform	heart	metallic core planets	magnetic field	humidity	midocean ridge reproduce	metamorphic	instruments	natural resources stars	motion	intestine	nonrenewable stored energy	motor	kidney	nutrients structures	nonliving	lungs	petroleum sun	north pole	mixture	phenomena telescope	organism	molecules	Plate tectonics waves	producers	moon	populations recycle	multicellular	pressure rock cycle	orbit	producers sedimentary	oxygen	radiation south pole	photosynthesis	renewable static electricity	reactants	solar energy surface	rearrange	temperature
